Remarkable Political Changes in Chicago and St. Louis.

RUMORS OF A BARGAIN TO DEFEAT ROBERTSON.

Scheme to Run a Canal through Florida—The Trinity Rectorship—New York Merchants Looking to the Future, etc.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

NEW YORK, April 5.—The presence of [illegible] Senator Platt, [illegible] Cornell and so many other Republican officials in the city Sunday was an unusual event. A consultation was held at General Arthur's house Sunday, at which the Robertson matter was discussed. It now transpires that Herbert O. Thompson was present on that occasion. He was seen to enter General Arthur's house and after remaining a long time came out in company with Jacob Hess, commissioner of charities and corrections; whether any political bargain was made or not it is regarded as significant that since that day there has been unusual activity among anti-Tammany party leaders, and while all the democrats in assembly, and pretty much throughout the country were before in favor of confirming Judge Robertson in opposition, and warfare was made upon him by the Republican machine leaders, anti-Tammany leaders suddenly turn out and ask their representatives in the assembly and their friends in the state to assist Conkling. The presence of Senator Conkling and his friend Senator Jones in the city yesterday was also commented upon, following so closely upon the conference Sunday. At one time in the afternoon Thompson and others were gathered in Whitney's private office. A report spread that Conkling was also there, but this was denied. It was said that the departure of a large number of local republican machine leaders for Albany last night was the result of Senator Conkling's visit and that they would make a determined effort to defeat the street cleaning bill, or at least amend it to keep power from the mayor, and also to amend the Robertson resolution. Senator Jones would then, it is said, be an ambassador from Conkling to Judge Robertson to induce him to withdraw by promise of support for some other place. Thompson says that if Robertson is confirmed as collector Cornell will be renominated and elected governor, if a Conkling man is made collector, then Cornell will not be renominated and the democrats will carry the state. This is philosophy.

A Bargain in New York.

ALBANY, April 6.—Anti-Tammany democratic leaders have agreed to assist Conkling in efforts to get the assembly to rescind the resolution asking the U. S. senate to confirm the nomination of Judge Robertson for collector at New York city. This has caused considerable talk in political circles of this city. The reported alleged deal was made by Vice President Arthur with Herbert O. Thompson, commissioner of public works, and Wm. C. Whitney, of the corporation council. The points involved were the Robertson resolution and the charter, in return for assistance in rescinding the resolution, the republican machine is, it is said, to see that no legislation passes the legislature adverse to the interests of Thompson, Whitney & Co. The street cleaning bill also at first reported will be received. It is doubtful if any democratic assemblyman can be induced to oppose this popular measure in order to please republican or anti-Tammany leaders. It could not be positively ascertained yesterday whether any agreement was made or not. [illegible] facts, however, indicate that an understanding of some kind has been reached.

New York Business Men Object to Robertson.

NEW YORK, April 6.—A petition to President Garfield was circulated last Friday by the board of trade and transportation and was sent to Washington last evening. The petition is signed by a large majority of the prominent merchants of New York. The board in submitting the petition have directed attention, in a letter signed by Darwin R. James, secretary, to the action of Judge Robertson in delaying and killing the bill to prevent the recent telegraph consolidation after it had passed the assembly, and to his previous record as a representative of the Vanderbilt interest in this state.

Sentiment in Favor of Robertson.

Tribune: The republican press of the country outside of New York state, with two exceptions, is solid in favor of Robertson's confirmation. The exceptions are the Washington Republican, edited by George C. Gorham, late of the [illegible] workingmen's party of California, and the Chicago Inter Ocean. Within New York state there are only 7 republican papers which oppose confirmation, and [illegible] which are warmly in favor of it. Of seven which oppose, two or three were in favor before they received orders to the contrary. Of those in favor of Robertson, at least four have hitherto been devoted adherents of Conkling. The facts are pretty conclusive evidence that the mass of republicans of the whole country are behind the president and in full sympathy with his course.

A Timely Word of Caution.

NEW YORK, April 6.—The Tribune (republican) says senators will be wise to keep an eye on [illegible] Gorham. He will go over to the democrats in a jiffy if he sees a chance to make anything thereby.

American Hogs Again.

President Parker of the produce exchange, yesterday received a communication from Edward Seve, consul general to Belgium at Philadelphia who was instructed by his government to investigate the alleged hog diseases prevailing in this country. Seve says that he has just arrived from Chicago and is ready to believe that no diseased meats were shipped directly from Chicago, Cincinnati or St. Louis.

Great Enterprise Projected.

JACKSONVILLE, April 5.—A company has obtained a charter from Florida to construct a ship canal across the state via the Caloosahatchee river and lakes, thence across to the ocean near the mouth of St. Lucie river. Capital, thirty millions.

Charged With Forgery.

NEW YORK, April 6.—Andrew Roberts, a notorious forger, arrested in connection with the Erie railroad bond forgery, was arrested to-day in the corridor of the court house, charged with forging checks on suburban banks.

What Constitutes a Professional Rifleman.

NEW YORK, April 5.—The National Rifle Association defines a professional rifleman to be one who exhibits or advertises his skill for pecuniary consideration, or who is employed directly or indirectly by manufacturers or makers of rifles, to shoot his or their special weapon for the purpose of advertising or selling it, or who pursues rifle shooting as a livelihood, excepting in the military team competitions. Professional riflemen shall always submit to a handicap equal to 10 per cent. of the possible total score in addition to any handicap otherwise imposed. Professionals are allowed to shoot in matches, but not to take prizes offered by the association.

Ministerial Change.

NEW YORK, April 6.—Rev. Stephen H. Tyng jr. has resigned the rectorship of Holy Trinity and will retire altogether from active work in the ministry. His health is much broken. Dr. Watkins of Baltimore succeeds him.

The Mormon Decision.

The Times, commenting on the decision in the Miles case says: The Mormons have gained a point, [but] congress amends the law of evidence in Utah, so that all and several wives are competent witnesses on indictments for bigamy, convictions for this offense will be difficult if not impossible.

Peaches on the Hudson.

Over $1,000,000 are invested in peach orchards along the Hudson. Next season 5,000,000 trees will be in bear. It is expected that this season's crop will be light.

More Indians Coming In.

St. PAUL, April 6.—Advices have been received at headquarters of the Department of Dakota that 200 lodges of Indians from Sitting Bull's camp are within fifty miles of Poplar river en route to Buford to surrender. Nine or ten bucks have already arrived bringing this announcement. Sitting Bull, they say, will follow when the snow goes.

The Missouri Flood.

SIOUX CITY, April 6.—One wagon and two railroad bridges over the Big Sioux river were carried away last night and telegraph lines destroyed west by the river route. The gorge broke at Jefferson this afternoon. The river is full of running ice. There are rumors of great loss of life in the vicinity of Jefferson and Yankton, but reports are believed to be greatly exaggerated.

BISMARCK, April 6.—The gorge at Lincoln broke last evening and the river is at its old channel. The ferry Union, below the gorge, was wrecked. She belonged to McLean & McNider, of this city, and was valued at $5000.

A New Departure.

NEW YORK, April 6.—To-day the U. S. assistant treasurer here received offers to sell bonds to the government for the Pacific Railroad sinking fund. This is the first time public offers of bonds have been [illegible] for this fund, and it is worthy of mention. [illegible] first new departure is a creditable one. The amount of bonds asked for was $663,000, [illegible] 6s, 5s or currency 6s, the idea being to accept those which will pay this sinking fund the best returns. The offers amounted to $1,000,000.

Moonshiners Captured.

[illegible], April 6.—A U. S. revenue posse captured Johnson Hoelsteller, Wm. Miller, Samuel Ryan and Jos. Nicklay, four moonshiners, with 150 barrels of illicit whisky, in Somerset Co., while working in a ravine.

The Tennessee Debt.

NASHVILLE, April 6.—The governor signed the bill, which passed the senate yesterday, to settle the state debt at par with 3 per cent. bonds. The house passed the senate bill to settle the debt of the extinct municipality of Memphis at fifty cents with 4 per cent. bonds.

Republican Victory at Leadville.

DENVER, April 6.—The city election at Leadville yesterday resulted in the election of Bowman, republican, for mayor, over [illegible], democratic candidate, and present incumbent.

An Outlaw Killed.

[illegible], April 6.—[illegible] F. Harrington, an outlaw, was shot and killed by a sheriff's posse near Mount [illegible] while attempting to cross a [illegible] River.

Educational Views in the South.

BOSTON, April 6.—Gen. Armstrong is now in Boston raising money for his Hampton Indian and Negro school. During a conference with some leading Boston men interested in the [illegible], he said: The change of sentiment in the south on the subject of education within the past 15 years is the most wonderful in the history of civilization. None of the colored teachers graduated at Hampton had encountered hostility. Everywhere the best white people welcome and encourage them. [illegible] from the illiterate [illegible] Another interesting fact mentioned by Gen. Armstrong is that southern colleges for whites are crowded with [illegible] who are living on hominy in order [to get] an education.

Garfield Disgusted with the Dead Lock.

[illegible] Hale, Frye, Ingalls, Blair and others hold similar views, and will try to have another caucus to reverse the decision of the last. It is stated that the president will use his power to break the dead lock if it lasts much longer.

The Army of the Tennessee.

CINCINNATI, April 6.—Arrivals were much more numerous last night of members of the Society of the Army of the Tennessee. Ex-President Hayes arrived and is the guest of John W. Herron, Esq. Gen. W. T. Sherman, Gen. W. W. Belknap and Gen. W. E. Strong are here. Gen. Sherman fraternized freely with former officers of his command, and was the center of attraction at the Burnet House, where his headquarters are established.

The society, ninety in number, marched with Gen. Sherman at their head from the Burnett House to Pike's Opera house, and Sherman presided at a business meeting. After reports and appointment of committees, General Sherman read a sketch of the battle of Pittsburg Landing, correcting some mistakes of reporters, and stated that Whitelaw Reid's report for the Cincinnati Gazette was all wrong in essential particulars. A great number of reports were read. There were subsequently speeches at the chamber of commerce.

Fire at Lowell.

LOWELL, April 6.—George W. Harris' [illegible] factory burned to-day. Loss, $40,000; insurance, $6,000.

WASHINGTON CITY.

The True Inwardness of the Senate Deadlock.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The positions taken by Senators Sherman and Bayard in their elaborate speeches to-day have brought into bold relief the fact which had previously been less apparent that the present contest in the senate is practically a contest between the two great political parties for the election of the next United States senator from Virginia. The people of that state will next fall elect not only a governor, judges of the court of appeals and other state officers, but also the legislature, which in turn is to elect Senator Johnson's successor, to take his seat as senator in March, 1883. It is generally believed by both parties in the senate that the success of the movement to which Riddleberger [illegible] would almost certainly insure the success of coalition and result in complete overthrow of the regular democracy in the "Old Dominion." A rumor is afloat and is credited in some quarters that if the dead lock continues much longer that the president will convene the 47th congress in extra session. The report is probably intended to frighten the democrats into yielding the senate patronage for fear of losing the house patronage, which unless an extra session be called they will continue to enjoy until next December. It is now pretty definitely known that President Garfield approves the stand taken by republicans of the senate, and this belief is strongly corroborated not only by the fact that his closest friends in the senate have openly advised the present programme, but also by the president's own utterance this morning, when he expressed himself warmly in favor of the proposed alliance of Virginia republicans with the party of Senator Mahone.

The President's Position.

The action of the president to-day in sending in nominations for several important places, such as Indian commissioner, indicates his purpose to throw upon the senate entire responsibility for failure to [illegible] or dangerously delay in [illegible] nominations. At the same time the president sympathizes with the movement to encourage Mahone and [illegible] disaffected element of the democracy in the south. He expressed himself to a colored Virginia delegation to-day as heartily in accord with the policy of disrupting and dividing the southern democracy, but the senate dead-lock is beginning to have an embarrassing effect upon the administration's work, and the president thinks [illegible] It is said on good authority that some nominations can be made without weakening the republican position.

A rumor is again circulated to-day that if the dead lock continues much longer the president will call an extra session, but it is not credited.

Robertson of New York has notified his friends most emphatically that he will not consent to the withdrawal of his name unless the president requests it. Robertson will make his fight to the end and will win. Two-thirds of the senate will unite to confirm him.

Resigned.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—George W. Manypenny, chairman of the Ute commission, has resigned.

Congressional Escort.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Jones, of Nevada, and Page, of [illegible], are members of the congressional escort for the remains of [illegible], which leave [illegible] Milwaukee [illegible].

Cabinet Meeting.

All members of the cabinet attended a meeting this afternoon. The session was devoted almost entirely to consideration of financial questions. The members who recently visited New York reported the results of their conferences with bankers and financiers of that city. Conclusions, if there are any arrived at, are as to the proposed policy to be adopted were not made known.

Nomination.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The president has nominated Hiram Price of Iowa, commissioner of Indian affairs, vice Thomas M. Nichol, whose nomination was withdrawn at his own request. Several other nominations were made.

Army Changes.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—General [illegible], who has been on General Sherman's staff six years, has been ordered to join his regiment at White River, and Chaplain McKeon has been ordered to take charge of education in the army. Army officers say that Secretary Lincoln has expressed the intention to revolutionize staff appointments. He thinks that some officers have been enjoying fat and easy berths too long, and that it is fair to give them a taste of service and let those who have seen hard service perform staff duty awhile.

The Lady Franklin Bay Expedition.

All offers of vessel owners to transport an arctic expedition to Lady Franklin bay insist that the owners shall name the captain and crew. Consequently the idea of sending a crew of U. S. officers and seamen has been abandoned.

A Precedent.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The president is following the example set by Pierce on his accession to the presidency with reference to the quarrels of the hard-shell and soft-shell democracy of New York.

The Railway Cases.

The Central Pacific Railroad Co. has declined to answer in the suit pending to test the legality of payment of dividends while the claims of the government are unsatisfied, and have gotten an extension. It is believed at the department that the managers of the road will practice a game of delay to the last degree possible. If they succeed in evading the law in this way, it is understood that the auditor of railroad accounts will lay the matter before the attorney general and insist that they be called on to answer for vast sums that it is alleged they have withheld from the government for the past thirty-two months. It is claimed at the department that they have done this to such an extent that within thirty months, ending December 8th, they have made way with some $1,483,000.

The New Indian Commissioner.

Hon. Hiram Price, who has been tendered the commissionership of Indian affairs, was elected to the 38th, 39th and 40th congress and declined to be a candidate for the 41st. He was nominated and elected for the 45th congress, against his expressed wish, was reelected for the 46th congress, and positively refused to be a candidate for the 47th. Price is a strict teetotaller and a temperance lecturer. [illegible] will get no fire water while [illegible] the administration of the Iowa stalwart, if he can help it.

Mahone Endorsed by Colored People.

Colored citizens to-day decorated Mahone's desk with a floral anchor, inscribed with appropriate congratulatory sentiments.

NEW YORK—PRESENT AND FUTURE.

The Produce Exchange Resolves that there is Danger of Losing the Western Trade, and Urges great Public Improvements.

NEW YORK, April 5.—The following resolutions were unanimously adopted at a special meeting of the produce exchange called to consider the subject of free canals:

Whereas, The wonderful growth of the state of New York in the past in population, in foreign and domestic commerce and material wealth, by reason of which she bears the proud, unchallenged title of the Empire state, has been largely due to the wise, far-seeing policy which constructed her system of internal water ways connecting the chain of lakes with the navigable waters of the Hudson, and that to this policy more than to any other cause, or than to all other causes combined, is due also the preeminent position which the city of New York holds as the commercial metropolis of the United States,

Resolved, That the position heretofore held by the city and state of New York is in serious jeopardy and cannot be much longer retained without prompt and vigorous action. Rival seaboard cities by herculean efforts, by the lavish use of capital and by availing of all resources of engineering skill have gone far toward neutralizing the geographical advantages of our state and toward diverting from us trade in the products of the great west. Canada, in pursuance of enlightened public policy and by vast expenditures has nearly completed the improvement of the Welland canal, which will be ready for operation in a few months, and last, though not least, the Mississippi and New Orleans route now looms up as one of our most formidable competitors.

Resolved, That the time has now arrived when New York, unless prepared to retire from her prominent position and accept inferior rank, must at once and forever throw off the apathy which has so long bound her, abandon the policy of masterly inactivity which has so long characterized her commercial [illegible], and by the adoption of a vigorous and liberal policy in connection with her water ways retain her hold upon the internal commerce of the country by [illegible] cheaper and better [illegible] transportation than any other route whatever.

Resolved, That in the judgment of the New York Produce Exchange, the first step in this direction is the adoption by the legislature and the people of a constitutional amendment now pending in the senate, [illegible] the present reduction of expenditure upon canals to the amount realized from tolls thereon [illegible], and removing all tolls upon property transported over canals of the state. The [illegible] enlargement of canals to an extent sufficient to equalize [illegible] the increased facilities offered by competing routes.

Resolved, That members of the New York Produce Exchange have noticed with great satisfaction the growing public sentiment throughout the state in favor of free canals, and they now earnestly request the legislature, [illegible] discarding all ideas of false economy, putting aside all local jealousies and refusing to be frightened by the bugbear of direct taxation which would be returned indirectly to the citizens of the state in a tenfold measure, but inspired by a high standard of true statesmanship and pure patriotism, it will promptly approve at this session the constitutional amendment abolishing tolls upon the canals of the state, in order that this question of vital importance may again be voted upon by the legislature of 1882 when, if [illegible] ratified by a vote of the people, it would have free canals [illegible] this year.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

The Chicago Election.

CHICAGO, April 6.—The new council will stand 18 republicans and 11 thoroughly independent republicans, [illegible] democrats and 2 socialists. [illegible] the republicans having gained [illegible] the democrats two councilmen. The republicans now claim the election of Rafferty, republican, for treasurer, but concede that Harrison has won by [illegible] majority [illegible] by democrats.

CHICAGO, April 6.—Later returns make some surprising changes. Nearly 12,000 more votes were polled than in the mayoralty election of 1879, and 17,000 less than in the last presidential election. Harrison's majority is very close to 8000. The democrats elect also the city treasurer by 1900, attorney and clerk by 1500 majority. The republicans gained two aldermen and have control of the council by a secure majority. They also elect the following officers: In north town, the collector; in south town, the supervisor, collector, assessor and clerk by majorities of 179 to 1528, and in west town, collector and clerk. Changes from the [illegible] show quite clearly that the vote was more generally divided on personal rather than political grounds, and the result of its significance from a political standpoint.

St. Louis.

St. LOUIS, April 6.—Complete returns show that a most remarkable revolution has taken place in the democratic party. The following is the vote for mayor: Ewing (rep.) 24,035; Overstolz, (dem.) [illegible]. Ewing's majority [illegible]. The remainder of the republican ticket is elected by majorities ranging from 12,000 to 6000. Six republican members of the upper house of the municipal assembly receive majorities from 4500 to 5000. This is not claimed as a straight republican victory, but is the result of better cohesion among [illegible]. The complexion of the lower house of the assembly cannot be known to-night, but the republicans are large that [illegible] majority of republicans are elected.

St. LOUIS, April 6.—The majorities for the republican candidates on the city ticket [illegible] majority for William L. Ewing, for mayor, stands as reported this morning [illegible]. The majority for republican members of the council from [illegible]. Of twenty-eight members of the house of delegates, the first each ward, the republicans elect [illegible] and the democrats [illegible]. The vote was [illegible] the registry, the [illegible] being among democrats.

Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, April 6.—Unofficial returns show that [illegible], democrat, is elected mayor by [illegible]. All the rest of the city ticket is republican except one member of the board of education. The council stands republicans, 32, democrats, 18. Board of education, republicans, 24; democrats, 6.

The Election in Wisconsin.

MILWAUKEE, April 6.—The democrats made gains in this state on account of the passage of the anti-treating law. Orsamus Cole is re-elected chief justice of the supreme court, and J. B. Cassoday associate justice of the supreme court, both republicans, without opposition. Light vote in the state.

The Election at Omaha.

OMAHA, April 6.—The democrats elected [illegible] Boyd, their candidate for mayor, at the city election yesterday, and carried the general city ticket and all ward candidates, with one or two exceptions. The whole city government has been [illegible] under a new law at this election and the victory is regarded as most important.

The Republicans Win at Bismarck.

BISMARCK, April 6.—E. B. Thorne and the entire republican ticket were elected yesterday by a small majority.

The Election at Little Rock.

LITTLE ROCK, April 6.—Kramer, democrat, is elected mayor by a majority. Jordan, republican, is elected alderman in the [illegible] ward. The democrats elect the treasurer, judge and five out of the ten aldermen.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

The House of Commons.

LONDON, April 7.—In the commons to-night T. P. O'Connor, home ruler, called attention to increased evictions in Ireland and appealed to the government to take steps to restrict them. The chief secretary for Ireland said that those who had advised the people to pay no rent were partly responsible for the evictions, and hoped the land bill would bring about a better state of things. [illegible]

Beaconsfield's Condition.

12 M.—Beaconsfield's condition is very [illegible].

LONDON, April 7.—The Standard in a special edition says: At 4:30 this morning we were informed that Lord Beaconsfield had passed a bad night and that the immediate attendance of Dr. Quain was found necessary.

A Big Pile of Gold.

LONDON, April 6.—Gold in the bank of England is greater than for many years, £[illegible].

Irish Affairs.

DUBLIN, April 6.—On or before the 7th inst. every person in the following places will lodge at the nearest police station all arms and ammunition they possess for the purpose of obtaining licenses. Several baronies in County Donegal, County Galway, Kerry, Leitrim, Limerick, Longford, Mayo, Roscommon, Monaghan, Sligo and Westmeath; parts of Kilkenny and Queens counties; cities of Limerick and Cork, town of Galway and seven boroughs in Tipperary. Several counties are also proclaimed with regard to the sale of arms.

While a dozen policemen were escorting a process server at Ballinamore, County Leitrim, they were attacked by 30 women with stones and sticks. A girl, aged 20, was fatally shot by another woman [illegible]. Several of the police were seriously injured.

Fifty Thousand Victims.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 6.—The latest accounts from Chio estimate the number of victims at [illegible]. All foreign men-of-war at Smyrna have started for Chio. Gen. Longstreet, U. S. minister, has ordered the corvette Galena to proceed thither with relief for the sufferers. Thirty villages were destroyed and 40,000 people are destitute. Castro, the chief town of Chio, is almost in ruins. Four hundred corpses have already been found. The porte is taking measures to alleviate the sufferings of the destitute inhabitants.

The Far East.

PARIS, April 5.—The cabinet has resolved not to [illegible] French troops [illegible] the Tunisian frontier.

South Africa.

CAPE TOWN, April 6.—A resolution was unanimously adopted by the house assembly, expressing satisfaction at the conclusion of Transvaal war.

German Affairs.

BERLIN, April 6.—During the discussion in the reichstag yesterday on Bismarck's accident insurance bill, the socialist [illegible] He claimed that the bill was a socialistic [illegible] and declared himself in favor of a general compulsory insurance.

Preparing for War.

Greece has instructed an agent here to engage 20 skilled surgeons for ambulance service.

SYRA, April 6.—Continued shocks of earthquake at Chio are destroying houses injured by the first shock. It is said to be utterly impossible to enter the town.

"Bruin" Style.

VIENNA, April 6.—Russia, after having acceded to the Austrian proposal for unanimous recognition of the kingdom of Roumania, now makes her consent conditional upon the adoption of measures against nihilists in Moldavia.

The Greek Question.

PARIS, April 6.—Havas agency issued an apparently semi-official letter, stating that Austria having taken the initiative of drafting a proposal to Turkey and Greece, all the powers accepted and it was to be presented at Athens on the 5th inst. Three of its stipulations, viz., That Greece shall acquire Port Punta; that the fortifications at Prevesa be razed and that navigation of the bay of Arta be free, do not form part of the porte's offer and the decision of the powers must therefore be communicated to the porte. The note is so decided and dwells so clearly on the impossibility of further concessions that it plainly shows Greece the futility of objections to it. The present Greek minister [illegible] Deliyanni, the Greek plenipotentiary to the Berlin congress will form a new ministry. Deliyanni will be more disposed to agree to conditions which would be impossible for Premier Coumoundouros to accept.

SUPREME COURT.

SALEM, April 6, 1881.

Supreme court met at 10:00 o'clock A. M.; full bench [illegible].

[illegible] vs. Geo. C. Sears [illegible], appeal from Marion county, decree of lower court affirmed. Decision by Watson, J.

SYLLABUS.

1. Where the only objection made at the trial to the admission of books in evidence is that they "were not books of original entry," no other ground of objection will be considered on appeal. The party making a specific objection waives all other grounds not covered by it.

2. A cash book and depositor's balance book belonging to a bank, shown to have been fairly and correctly kept, into which after the banking hours each day are copied, "slips" and "[illegible]" containing the proper data of the transactions concerning each item entered at the time, or when the items are copied into the cash book are [illegible] and in the regular course of business of the bank transferred into the depositor's balance book, both of such books are admissible in evidence as books of original entries.

3. Where the gist of the action is [illegible], an allegation in the complaint that the defendant obtained the amount sought to be recovered by imposition and fraud, does not entitle him to introduce evidence of his general good character for honesty and integrity.

The Oregon Railway Company, Limited, appellant, vs. the City of Portland, respondent; cause argued and submitted.

The City of Portland, appellant, vs. Perry G. Baker, respondent, appeal from Multnomah county. Cause argued and submitted.

Ordered that the court take a recess until 1:30 o'clock P. M., when the case of Hass vs. [illegible] will come up for hearing.

CALIFORNIA.

Trial by Mob.

SANTA BARBARA, April 6.—A Lompoc special says that [illegible], brother of the murderer hung by vigilantes, has been arrested, but denied participation in Mrs. Sargent's murder, and offers to prove an alibi. The citizens will give him a fair trial, and if he is guilty, as seems probable, he will be executed.

Johnson & Pettinger expect to have their planing mill, recently burned at [illegible], ready [illegible] May [illegible].

THE IRISH LAND BILL.

Its Terms Forecasted—Gladstone to Speak Three Hours in Presenting it to the Commons.

LONDON, April [illegible].—It is expected that Gladstone's speech introducing the land bill in the house of commons to-morrow will occupy three hours. It is stated that the bill will provide under the head of tenure, that landlords may prohibit the sale of tenant-right where reasonable grounds exist. The question of what are reasonable grounds [is] reserved for a land court. Where landlords propose to raise the rent of a present tenant, the latter may resist and shall be entitled [illegible] the annual increase demanded. Sale of tenant right [illegible] compensation for disturbance or improvements and receipts. Such compensation bars the right to sale. Where the tenant divides his interest [illegible] the wishes of landlords. [illegible] statutory conditions which bind the tenant [illegible] for punctual payment of rent, [illegible] against waste, subdivision [illegible] rights of inspection, sporting, etc., and prohibition to sublet or divide without written permission from the landlord, and limitation to the land act of 1870 of compensation for disturbance to 250 pounds, will be replaced by a sliding scale. Where rent is under thirty pounds compensation will be seven years' rent. Where rent is under fifty pounds, not exceeding [illegible] years' rent, and when rent is one hundred pounds, not exceeding three years' rent. The act of 1870 will be further amended to fully protect the tenant's rights of compensation for improvements. [illegible] compensation for improvements [illegible] This is [illegible] What is fair rent may be decided by the court on application from the landlord and tenant [illegible] When the court fixes the rent, there is to be [illegible] The [illegible] 15 years security for tenant [illegible] the bill and is [illegible] The county is invested with equitable jurisdiction [illegible] The court will enforce the agreement [illegible] shall be subject to revolution by the court [illegible] of not less than 15 years, [illegible] The owner of an estate [illegible] Appeals will lie from the civil courts to [illegible] Parties may [illegible] an agreement [illegible] the [illegible] of a land commission. [illegible] the Bright clauses. There are many other features in the bill for the protection of tenants [illegible] of landlords, and [illegible] the landlord to his rights.

LUCK OF ONE DAY'S FISHING.

One morning, when spring was in her teens—
A morn to a poet's wishing,
All tinted in delicate pinks and greens—
Miss Bessie and I went fishing.

I in my rough and easy clothes,
With my face at the sunshine's mercy;
She with her hat tipped down to her nose,
And her nose tipped—vice versa.

I with my rod, my reel and my hooks,
And a hamper for lunching recesses;
She with the bait of her comely looks,
And the seine of her golden tresses.

So we sat down on the sunny dike,
Where the white pond-lilies teeter,
And I went to fishing like quaint old Ike,
And she like Simon Peter.

All the noon I lay in the light of her eyes,
And dreamily watched and waited,
But the fish were cunning and would not rise,
And the baiter alone was baited.

And when the time for departure came,
The bag was flat as a flounder;
But Bessie had neatly hooked her game—
A hundred-and-eighty pounder.

Washington Territory.

[illegible] Camp Spokane [illegible] and their places [illegible].

There are now but two or three schools in operation in Columbia county. They will take a new start about the 1st of May.

Communication with the Hill country surrounding Almota has at length been re-established, the roads having been thoroughly repaired.

According to a report recently made by E. H. Morrison, register of the land office at Walla Walla, there are in Columbia county 370,516 acres of surveyed lands, divided as follows: Government land 190,830 acres; school land, 12,610; Northern Pacific, 166,869.

DECISION IN U. S. CIRCUIT COURT BY JUDGE DEADY.

U. S. Circuit Court, District of Oregon.

WEDNESDAY, April [illegible], 1881.

[illegible] Moore, [illegible] et al. [illegible]

[illegible] A water right granted [illegible] does not become [illegible] upon and for which it is [illegible] to the grantee [illegible] where [illegible] water power is taken and applied to run a mill belonging to the owner of the power [illegible] while the water power is so being used, the owner conveys the premises by metes and bounds without mentioning the water right, the right may pass [illegible] parties.

[illegible] Fowler [illegible] In 1864 a water right was granted by the [illegible] and in 1865 the same was [illegible] a paper mill and [illegible] and in 1871 the same [illegible] of the owners of the [illegible] water power to the use thereof [illegible] continuously and exclusively, until 1875 when the owner of the mill and power conveyed the mill, describing the property by metes and bounds only, and without any express mention of said water right, to secure a loan of $[illegible] payable in two years with interest at the rate of one per cent. per month, [illegible] including said water right, being then worth [illegible] of which sum the water right was worth [illegible]. Held, that upon the [illegible] and circumstances of the case, it sufficiently appeared that it was the intention of the parties that the water right should pass with the mill [illegible] a part thereof.

[illegible] On April [illegible], 1878, James D. Miller and wife [illegible] conveyed the following described property to John T. Apperson [illegible] of [illegible] to secure the payment of [illegible] promissory note of said Miller of the same date, for the sum of [illegible] with interest [illegible] per cent. per month, payable [illegible] Apperson [illegible] after date, to-wit: Lots 5 and 6 in block 2 in Oregon City, Oregon, and also a portion of lots 7 and 8 in said block constituting a parallelogram [illegible] feet in width, [illegible] of lot 7 [illegible] southwest corner of [illegible] and lot 8 [illegible] with [illegible] 70 feet in length, [illegible] and [illegible] said premises [illegible]

The mortgage also contained an agreement that Miller would keep the buildings on the premises insured at $20,000, and if he failed to do so the mortgagee might foreclose [illegible] said mortgage and [illegible] the mortgage.

On January 2, 1880, the mortgage aforesaid became due [illegible] and only [illegible] interest paid thereon, said Miller and wife conveyed the lots and portions of lots aforesaid to Oliver C. [illegible], to secure the payment of [illegible] dated [illegible] 1879, for the sum of $11,560, with interest at the rate of [illegible] per cent. per month, payable to said [illegible] one day after date, and also the water right, formerly conveyed to the Oregon Paper Manufacturing Company by Joseph Marshall, John H. Moore and Samuel L. Stevens by deed of June 8, 1866, to wit: The right to take 300 inches of the water which flows from the channel of the [illegible] of Abernethy [illegible] David Harvey [illegible] City, Oregon [illegible]

[illegible] Harvey, Moore, Marshall, Stevens of [illegible] and Joseph [illegible] on August 9, 1866, which mortgage [illegible] on February 1, 1880, in consideration of $11,[illegible] transferred to [illegible] North America.

On June 1, 1880, the plaintiff [illegible] this suit upon said note and the mortgage [illegible] said Miller and wife and Apperson [illegible] of the mortgage to Apperson, [illegible] claiming that such mortgage does not include the water right and easement aforesaid and [illegible] a sale of the premises and a distribution of the proceeds according to such [illegible].

On June 18 the bill was taken for confessed against Miller and wife.

On May 3 the defendant Apperson [illegible] by his original answer that at the date of his mortgage, and long before, he had [illegible] Miller was the owner [illegible] the property described in the mortgage and also of the easement and water right [illegible] that there was a grist mill [illegible] the mill and water [illegible] used by said Miller and his grantors for the manufacture of [illegible] that at the date of said mortgage and long before the said Miller [illegible] appurtenant to said lots [illegible] easement and water right [illegible] said mill and water [illegible]

On August [illegible] the defendant Apperson [illegible] amended answer [illegible] the original [illegible] that [illegible]

The [illegible] was [illegible] plaintiff [illegible] the mortgage [illegible]

[illegible] the water and water right [illegible] Moore, Marshall, Stevens [illegible] David Harvey [illegible] August 9, 1866 [illegible] one-fifth thereof [illegible] by any real property owned by said [illegible] plaintiff or defendant Apperson; that on August [illegible] 1861 said grantors acquired said lots [illegible] in Oregon City [illegible] on March 8, 1865, said Moore, Marshall, Stevens and the [illegible] of said [illegible] acquired said lots 5 and 6 from the same [illegible] and on June 7, 1866 the [illegible] interest of said [illegible] conveyed to said Moore, Marshall and Stevens the undivided one-third of said lots [illegible] in 6 and 8 and water right and easement; that on June 8, 1866, said Moore, Marshall and Stevens conveyed to the Oregon City Paper Manufacturing Company said lot 7 and the divided half of said easement and water right, reserving 6 feet and [illegible] inches in width along the easterly side of said lot and [illegible] the walls of the building [illegible] thereon, on which to construct a flume or race for the purpose of conveying water for the equal use of the parties to said deed and their assigns; and also a strip of [illegible] 12 feet and [illegible] inches in width on either side of the northerly line of said lot 5, to be used by said parties and their assigns as a tail race; that on March 1, 1868, said Oregon City Paper Manufacturing Co. conveyed its interest as aforesaid in said lot 5 and easement and water right to [illegible]; that on August 22, 1868, said Marshall conveyed to said Moore the undivided one [illegible] of said lots 6, 7 and 8, and also the undivided one-eighth of said easement and water right [illegible] June 26, 1861 said Stevens conveyed to said [illegible] the undivided one-fourth of said lots 6, 7 and 8, and the [illegible] the undivided half of said easement and water power to the defendant [illegible] Church [illegible] Marshall [illegible] to said Miller and one-fourth to said [illegible] and on September [illegible] 1872 [illegible] Marshall conveyed to said Church the undivided one-half of said lot 6, together with the [illegible] hereditaments and appurtenances [illegible] without any special mention of water rights; that on November 17, 1876 said Moore conveyed to said Miller and Church said [illegible] the portion of said lots 7 and 8 [illegible] and the undivided one-half of said easement and water right; and that [illegible] 1878 said Church conveyed to said Miller the undivided one-half of said lots 5 and 6 and said portions of said lots 7 and 8, together with all the mills, buildings, warehouses, water rights and privileges and easements thereon or appurtenant thereto."

In the conveyances of August 22, 1868, and June 26, 1861 the interest in the water right [illegible]

THE SENATE.

And Still no Sign of Getting to Business.

INTERESTING TALK BETWEEN BAYARD AND SHERMAN.

Mahone's Stand and the Virginia Debt Question Discussed—The Ohio Senator Declares that [illegible] Attack Mahone is to Attack the Republicans, Etc., Etc.

WASHINGTON, April 6.

[illegible] business, the resolution [illegible] officers of the senate was taken up. [illegible] presented [illegible] petitions.

[illegible] thought it a strange proceeding that [illegible] petition. This was a petition [illegible] Michael [illegible] who had been [illegible] prison, [illegible] and denied the right [illegible]

[illegible] the senate [illegible] to [illegible] that the [illegible] constitutionally [illegible] authority.

McPherson believed that the rights of the people were protected by the constitution.

The vice-president ruled it out of order.

McPherson said that he would call up the petition [illegible] to enable him to state his reasons for its [illegible] of denying justice to an Irish-American citizen [illegible] He would [illegible] the country for saying that Gorham and Riddleberger must first be elected.

Hoar said that the pretence that delay was due to the republicans was [illegible]

[illegible] idea that there was to [illegible] the senate.

[illegible] that the state department was ready [illegible] matter of the petition.

Morgan took the floor.

[illegible] that there [illegible] vote for [illegible]

[illegible] that which the [illegible] had [illegible] a bargain [illegible] but when [illegible] he believed [illegible] [illegible] The [illegible] galleries.

Bayard [illegible] precedent was made two years ago [illegible] He [illegible] rule [illegible] the democrats, and [illegible] they were getting [illegible]

Hoar [illegible] officers [illegible]

[illegible] Sherman said that the [illegible] difference, but [illegible] upon [illegible] the rights of the minority [illegible]

Bayard declared that the republicans had [illegible] majority [illegible] employes who had expected [illegible] last November [illegible] the president [illegible] voted for Hancock and English. [illegible] would speak about hereafter. [illegible] the state.

[illegible] Bayard replied that it was not the amount of [illegible] but the fact that they were [illegible] of Virginia [illegible]

[illegible]

Sherman said that the method of reporting to debate [illegible] was as dangerous, as [illegible] and revolutionary [illegible]. Here the majority [illegible] officers. It was shown by the votes that it was [illegible] constitutional majority; it was simply [illegible] senators with no respect to [illegible] the vice-president. It was because the southern republicans had not [illegible] majority rule that they had never been able to establish [illegible] He made a strong argument in [illegible] minorities to [illegible] their votes, and criticised the action of [illegible] Mahone [illegible] Virginia [illegible] the movement originated by that gentleman would [illegible] a new day for the south. The [illegible] was to be sectional and [illegible] Bayard [illegible] rights and privileges [illegible]

Bayard was glad that [illegible] of preventing by silence [illegible] a measure which had been proposed and debated, and which only remained to be acted upon. [illegible] public [illegible] dilatory motions [illegible] within the spirit of law.

Sherman paid a tribute to Mahone for breaking away from the democracy and said that the brave act would be extolled like the deeds of the old heroes of Virginia.

[illegible] referring to the alleged agreement with Mahone [illegible] traditions of the country. [illegible] legislation [illegible] Virginia [illegible] Mahone [illegible] to the senate [illegible]

Hawley made an earnest speech in which he deprecated the principle that the minority should [illegible] the majority. Soon afterwards the senate adjourned.

Wednesday's Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, April 6.

The vice president presented credentials and the resolution [illegible] the election of senate officers.

McPherson [illegible] the presentation of petitions and memorials [illegible] executive session.

[illegible]

McPherson offered [illegible] his right [illegible] was offered without objection to the committee on foreign affairs. The senate [illegible] refused to go into executive session.

Bayard believed the democrats justified in their attitude of the past [illegible] days by law, and he said that there had been [illegible] which, though it [illegible] duty to interpose every possible barrier to action in order that questions of [illegible] welfare of the [illegible] could stand over [illegible] sober second thought. [illegible] however, was no precedent for the election of [illegible] two years ago. [illegible] treaty was before the senate and it ought to be considered; but what were a million people that lived on the Pacific coast compared with the matter of whether the present secretary of the senate should give place to another man. That was not one feature. The U. S. supreme court stood to-day enfeebled in number until the senate should displace four or [illegible] and put four others in their places. The U. S. circuit and district courts are waiting, unable to proceed with public business until the senate should [illegible] were waiting confirmation, collectors of customs, and especially the collector of the great port of New York, the next officer to secretary of the treasury, were awaiting action on nominations. He criticised the promises of [illegible] given to Mahone by the republicans, though he had voted for Hancock,—a [illegible] he would not, be forced. He would present [illegible] of the reward to Riddleberger and Mahone as a [illegible] political morality. He denounced as a dangerous attempt at centralization the [illegible] purpose of the senate republicans to [illegible] the Virginia democrats and [illegible] the coming election. It was usurpation, revolutionary and unlawful. The [illegible] party [illegible] repudiation [illegible] Riddleberger. [illegible] the poor man's capital, [illegible] poverty. Virginia was poor and needed credit worse than ever before. [illegible] self respect and manhood. That [illegible] country.

Sherman agreed with Bayard that the majority [illegible] revolution. The [illegible] Under the rules of the senate the government [illegible] be absolutely destroyed as confederate [illegible] and judgment [illegible] must be done. The [illegible] right of the majority to rule must prevail. [illegible] he had certain rights to interpose dilatory motions in order to delay and weary the [illegible] majority, but when [illegible] he would [illegible] the republicans would protect and shield Mahone with a strong arm. If the democrats attacked him they attacked the republicans. The democrats would be governed by similar motives. He denied that there had been a bargain, promise or corrupt motives for entering into the movement. The motives are as patent as day, as light, as the sun and can be obtained from every house top and every stump. We give our hand to the senator from Virginia, because we believe we will thus advance public interests and break down the bitter [illegible] which has [illegible] since the [illegible]

Bayard [illegible] The senator wants an answer and I will try and give it to him. [illegible] whether a democrat or republican only cares the [illegible] I would never [illegible]

THURSDAY MORNING, APRIL 7, 1881.

POLITICS, LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Of the municipal elections which have been held since the presidential election of last fall, the republicans have carried only one of any note, and that exception is St. Louis, a democratic city. Philadelphia, Providence, Chicago, Cincinnati, all republican strongholds, and such minor cities as Oakland and Sacramento, have either gone "straight" democratic or beaten the "regular" republican tickets. Such things have happened before and it is quite natural that they should happen now. In the republican party there is a vast deal of independent thinking attended by independent action. Any attempt to draw party lines closely, except in a great party struggle, will always fail. In the democratic party there is no vitality except that of opposition. And as opposition must and will always exist, it may still be massed more conveniently under this name than any other. Many people who feel constrained to vote straight party tickets in general elections under pressure of what they regard as political necessity, have a habit of seeking compensation for the sacrifice by rejecting party tickets when it comes to municipal or other merely local elections. These occasions, too, furnish opportunity for administering discipline to local bosses and bringing about various adjustments more or less necessary. Always, too, after a presidential contest the liquor question presents itself in local elections. The prohibitionists wonder why it is that a party so strong as the republican party proved last November should not be able to eradicate the liquor traffic from the land; and thinking it could do so just as well as not if it would, they urge upon it a prohibition policy more or less extreme, and usually get it beaten for their pains. But then worse things might happen than the defeat of party tickets in local elections—though doubtless thick-and-thin partisans will continue to see in every consequence of this kind a danger of sad disintegration and future overthrow. In so far, however, as these events are a reminder to those republican statesmen, local and national, who have given themselves up to the science of party manipulation as a profession, that the democratic party is not dead; or that an opposition, no matter by what name it may be called, still exists and may be formidable for the future, the results are likely to be salutary, even from the stand point of republican partisanship.

We do not suppose that national politics has entered at all into these contests. Nevertheless, the fact that the democratic party undoubtedly still exists as a vigorous and powerful opposition—a fact which is brought into notice by these elections—should be a note of warning in the broader domain of national politics, beginning with the senate of the United States. The republican members of that body cannot afford, for the sake of their party (if no other reason will move them) to continue their present course. It is a course they should never have entered upon; and now no false pride should deter them from calling a halt. The course they are pursuing could not be better devised if its express object were to belittle their party and disgust the country. Everybody knows that office-seeking and office-grabbing is the sole source of this prolonged contention. An able republican contemporary well says: "Party policy is regulated not by any consideration of what is best for the country, but by a careful study of the programme which is thought most likely to relieve the party from the painful necessity of committing itself. An extra session is to be avoided, not because a funding bill is not imperatively demanded, but because it is thought that it would be difficult to pass a funding bill which would not antagonize somebody. In short, the great end and aim of party strategy is 'how not to do it,' as regards everything but the getting of offices. The organization of the senate by the republicans has been secured by as discreditable and undisguised a trafficking in the federal patronage as ever occurred, and after the debates which have been had upon the matter the country is not likely to forget it. And now everything else is thrust into the background while the senators propose to do battle for what? Not for any great principle. Not for any patriotic measure. Not for anything in which the American people are deeply concerned. But for the right to fill offices with their satellites and dependents, and thus to fortify themselves in power, no matter whether at the sacrifice of honest and economical government or not. This is the class of subjects which convulse Washington at present. This is the kind of disputes which have taken the place of the intellectual contests for which the halls of congress were once famous. And yet there are people who are capable of looking on at all these signs of decadence, and cannot perceive that the one way to get rid of the whole discreditable and demoralizing business is to abolish 'patronage' at one stroke, and thus bring our senators and representatives back to dependence upon the people—that people whose smiles or frowns they have almost ceased to notice or care for, so formidably has the abuse of patronage intrenched them in their positions."

IMPROVEMENT OF THE INDIANS.

In his response at the banquet recently tendered him by citizens of Boston the late secretary of the interior, Mr. Schurz, touched upon some interesting points on the conduct of Indian affairs, none more so than the possibilities of Indian improvement. In the course of his remarks he claimed that his policy had been that of "promoting the transformation of the Indians from shiftless paupers into thrifty and orderly workers as agriculturists, herdsmen, traders and mechanics, of extending their educational facilities, to teach them how to learn and how to live, of stimulating their desire to become individual owners of land and other property like white men, a policy, in one word, of preparing them for their ultimate absorption into the great body of American citizenship, with all its rights and duties." Mr. Schurz has given as much attention to this subject as any other of our public men; and it will be interesting to take a short survey of what has actually been accomplished in the direction he has indicated.

The aggregate number of Indians in the United States, exclusive of Alaska, is 252,897. This is the sum of latest returns made to the Indian bureau, though it may not be quite accurate. It is near enough, however, for all practical purposes. Of this whole number 138,046 wear citizen's dress and are civilized or partly civilized.

In Michigan there are about 10,000 Indians, who are nearly self-supporting. Last year they raised 13,374 bushels of wheat, 20,900 bushels of corn and a large amount of vegetables. They have eight day schools and eleven churches and religious societies. In Wisconsin there are 7619 Indians, of whom over 1200 can read. Nearly all are engaged in civil pursuits. Last year they raised 7605 bushels of wheat, 25,950 bushels of corn and 21,020 bushels of barley. In Minnesota there are [illegible] Indians, who last year raised 26,200 bushels of wheat, 18,[illegible] bushels of corn, 8931 bushels of barley, and [illegible] bushels of vegetables. In Dakota there are over 27,500 Indians; but industry has not as yet been organized among them to the same extent as among those previously mentioned. However, they are making progress, and last year raised considerable crops. About 1300 children attend school. Montana has 19,791 Indians, among whom the work of improvement is just getting well under way. Last year they raised over 20,000 bushels of wheat and other valuable crops. In Idaho more progress has been made. The 1165 Indians reported on the reservations in that territory last year raised 10,900 bushels of wheat, 5455 bushels of barley, and 17,049 bushels of vegetables. Eleven schools are reported among them. The Indians in Oregon number 5,426. Last year they raised 28,727 bushels of wheat, 2020 bushels of oats and [illegible] bushels of vegetables. They have [illegible] horses, 5027 head of cattle, 1320 swine and [illegible] sheep. Washington territory is the home of 14,168 Indians. Statistics of their industry in the account before us are not full. We only find it stated that last year they cultivated over 12,000 acres.

It is well known that the most civilized of all the Indians are the tribes in the Indian territory. There are about 55,000 of these who are well along in civilization, and [illegible] ... These Indians occupy 16,250 [illegible]. They have 12 boarding and [illegible] day schools, which they support at a cost of $[illegible] a year.

These statistics show that the Indians are capable of improvement. It will take time and patience and money; but the germ is there. Indian schools like the one at Forest Grove, though they have as yet but few scholars, are laying the foundation of a good work. Beyond all doubt the government will not change the policy it has begun. It will gradually get the leaven of improvement worked into the mass.

A Washington correspondent says: "Hill had a right to comment on Mahone's action, but he had no right to impeach his motives on the floor of the senate, and Mahone resented it as every other southern gentleman would." Emphasis here is on the word "southern" as applied to gentleman. In this way the world is given to understand that the southern gentleman is a special and rare type of the order of gentlemen. The intimation is that he, the southern gentleman, is the very flower and ripened fruit of our civilization; that there is something about him which especially distinguishes him from the gentlemen of other lands. The world has heard this sort of gasconade until it has come to a sort of good-humored, easy toleration of it. It knows full well the provincial definition which has long obtained in the south of the word gentleman, and it has been more amazed than annoyed by the simple ignorance which differs less in kind than in degree from that which characterizes any of the most barbarous peoples on the globe.

The New York Times recently published a statement in relation to the subscription fund for Gen. Grant, showing that the amount now subscribed amounts to $250,000, $216,000 of which has been paid in. Among the subscribers are J. W. Mackey, Jay Gould and Wm. H. Vanderbilt, each down for $25,000. D. O. Mills and Gov. Stanford each subscribe $5000, etc. Now, it would be greatly to the credit of Gen. Grant if he would wash his hands of this whole business, and show his independence by engaging in some vocation whereby he could support himself. With the prestige his presidential and military reputation give him, he surely would not be at a loss for opportunities to earn his own living. It appears like a small piece of business for the ex-president to be playing the role of a mendicant in this manner.

The Stockton Herald is dissatisfied with the working of the public school system in that city. The methods in vogue there seem to be similar to those in most American cities. Undue attention is given to the higher education, while the primary departments are neglected. Thus, $160 a month is expended for teaching sixty pupils in the high school, while twice that number of scholars in the lower grades are portioned off to an overworked teacher who receives only $62 50 a month. This is the drift of criticism on the system pretty much everywhere.

After all, as it appears from the books of the treasury department there were no deductions from the salary of Senator Sharon of Nevada on account of his chronic absence. The equities of these things ought to extend to the case of senators who, though present, are too indolent and stupid to render any service for the pay they regularly draw. Nobody can pretend that the senators from Oregon are doing anything whatever.

"I want to know," peremptorily demanded Boss Conkling, "whether I am to be insulted by the refusal of the president to obey my orders in making appointments in my state? If I am to be thus insulted my sense of duty requires me to deal with that man Garfield in a way that he will remember." And the great boss at once set all his trusty attendants to mixing barrels of war paint for him.

Beecher has been sued by Samuel Wilkeson for not completing the "Life of Christ." Wilkeson claims to have been a great loser by Beecher's default. His suit is for $10,000. This is the work which he spoke of once, rather irreverently, as having been "knocked higher'n a kite." Its fortunes were coupled in some way with the Tilton business.

"George C. Gorham, late of the democratic workingmen's party of California," is the way a telegram puts it. Gorham is a boss machinist, is at the bottom of the dicker with Mahone, and in full communion with the spoilsmen who, under the lead of Conkling, are making war on the administration.

Mr. Amasa Stone of Cleveland, has given $500,000 for the endowment of a new college to be called Adelbert college. The conditions attending the endowment are that the college shall be in Cleveland, and shall be named after the deceased and favorite son of Mr. Stone.

It is a matter of observation that those newspapers which have been most bitterly abusing President Hayes because he saved part of his salary are the ones which are also most severely denouncing President Grant for having wasted his in "riotous living."

MAIL ORDER DEPARTMENT.
The growth of the Ladies' Ready-Made Suit Department for the past two years has been remarkable, and may justly be attributed to the most efficient and thorough manner in which I have executed all orders entrusted to me. A Lady can send a postal card from any distant place, state her size, and color of goods, and within one day can have
An All-Wool Black or Colored Dress for from $15 to $30,
And when not acquainted with me, has the privilege of examining the Dress ordered. No advance of money required, as is the custom with New York houses, which is such a great risk, as many advances have been regretted by Ladies, who waited for two months for a Dress and then were displeased. Ladies, reflect and give me an order.

CITY.

N[illegible] Science Association.—[illegible] meeting of the Natural Science Association was held in Handel and Haydn hall on Tuesday evening. The president of the association, Dr. [illegible] a series of interesting chemical experiments before a respectable audience. The doctor began by [illegible] the water by means of potassium. [illegible] a small [illegible] on the surface [illegible] The oxygen of the water uniting with the potassium with great energy liberated the hydrogen [illegible] by means of the great heat produced [illegible] that gas became ignited; the free hydrogen uniting with the oxygen of the air [illegible] positive dance, resulting in the reproduction of water. The next experiment was the decomposition of water by the use of sodium. The process was the same as above except that there was not sufficient heat generated to cause the hydrogen to unite with the oxygen of the air and the hydrogen was set free. By collecting the hydrogen and igniting it a yellowish flame was produced owing to the presence of particles of sodium. Water was also decomposed by means of dilute sulphuric acid with zinc. The doctor attempted to produce the "[illegible]" of the [illegible] by introducing a jet of burning hydrogen into a long glass tube, but it positively refused to perform without an admission fee. By the introduction of arsenic into the retort, the hydrogen flame, when projected against cold porcelain, left a deposit of arsenic, indicating one of the methods of detecting it in cases of poison by this drug. The doctor produced oxygen, showing its high inflammable power. He also produced other compositions of sulphur and other substances, etc., generating most villainous smells, strongly suggestive of the nether region. One of the most pleasing features of the evening was the presence of two boys who manifested great interest in, as well as considerable knowledge of, the subjects under treatment, forming a strong contrast with those boys who spend their evenings in idleness on the streets.

T[illegible] of Steam Drilling.—The saving of time, labor, and consequently cost, in drilling out the enormous quantity of rock necessary in the construction of the government locks at the Cascades, is an important factor for the consideration of engineers superintending the work. The attention of Lieut. Powell having been drawn to the successful working of the machine drills on the O. R. & N. Co's heavy open cuts, he invited Mr. E. A. R[illegible], of San Francisco, who is superintending the work of machine drilling for the railroad company, to visit the locks and demonstrate practically what the machines were capable of on the rock with which Lieut. Powell has to deal. Accordingly last Sunday a [illegible] inch drill was set up on a tripod and run by steam power from a small boiler, which was conveniently adjacent. The machine was operated by two assistants and was started at 11:18 A. M., and the work of drilling as in ordinary practice, was continued steadily for three-quarters of an hour. During this time the machine was actually at work only 15 minutes and some odd seconds, and the remarkable result was obtained of a hole nearly 7 feet deep. Careful notes were taken by the engineers present and it was stated that the same result could not have been attained had hand drills been used, in less than a day, requiring the labor of three men to accomplish the work in that time. Much satisfaction was expressed at the result of the test.

A[illegible] for a Road.—The following petition, numerously signed, was presented to the county court yesterday: "We, the undersigned inhabitants of Rooster Rock, Multnomah county, do respectfully ask your honorable body to lay out and establish a county road in this county to wit: Commencing at the mile post on the top of Rooster Rock mountain near the northeast corner of James Devine's improvements, thence running in a northeasterly direction to a point on the Columbia river low water mark, marked with a stake six rods west of the foot of Rooster Rock." The court in the matter of the above petition appointed Andrew Gilbert, Fred Eberly and John Sweeney viewers, to meet at the residence of Nelson F. Ross, at 8 o'clock A. M., April 19, 1881, to view and report to the court.

Canada, Sold.—By order of the United States court, U. S. Marshal E. S. Kearney sold yesterday afternoon, at public auction, the American ship Canada, in satisfaction of debts. The bidding, especially toward the last, was very spirited, several of the heaviest capitalists on this part of the coast being present at the sale, and participating in competition. Among the bidders may be mentioned Dr. D. S. Baker and Cyrus Walker, and others who are known as millionaires. The sale of the vessel was conducted with entire satisfaction by Marshal Kearney. The purchasers are Messrs. Ackerson, Hanson & Co. of New Tacoma, and the price paid is $26,300.

An Inadvertent Error.—In the county court yesterday the following entry was made: "The court finds that an error has been made inadvertently in entering the order of the court in the matter of the districting the city of East Portland for road purposes, in this: that that part of East Portland known as 'Tibbetts' addition' was included in road district No. 6. It was ordered that the journal be corrected so that Tibbetts' addition be included in road district No. 7, and that the road assessment books be corrected."

Northern Pacific Stage Line.—Mr. E. E. McCannan, of Spokan Falls, general agent of the Northern Pacific Stage Line, is in the city. He stated to an Oregonian reporter that stages will leave the end of the track for Spokan Falls Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, returning on the other days of the week. Stoppages over night will be made at Ritzville; time from Ainsworth to Spokan Falls 36 hours. By May 1st stages will leave and arrive every day.

Going to San Francisco.—For some time past Capt. William Drury, U. S. A., has been troubled with a cataract which has been growing over his left eye. The sight in that optic has been almost entirely shut out, and removal of the obstruction has become necessary to enable him to use the eye. He will leave for San Francisco on the outgoing steamer, to have the operation performed. Capt. Drury will be accompanied by his wife.

Officers Elected.—At the triennial meeting of Multnomah Council of Kadosh, A. & A. Scottish Rite, the following officers were elected to serve the ensuing three years: I. W. Pratt, Ven. Commander; H. L. Hoy, 1st Lieut. Commander; F. N. Shurtleff, 2d Lieut. Commander; A. Roberts, Chancellor; Christopher Taylor, Orator; B. G. Whitehouse, Recorder; Theo. Wygant, Treasurer; John R. Foster, Almoner.

McDonald Released.—Gov. Thayer on Monday last, commuted the sentence of J. H. McDonald, the bunko sharp, who was sentenced to a ten years' imprisonment in the Oregon penitentiary, his term of sentence commencing April 4, 1879. Evidences of reformation, uniform good conduct while in prison and the recommendation of the judge before whom he was tried, were the grounds of executive clemency.

Willamette Conference.—The Congregational churches of this valley meet in conference next Tuesday at Oregon City. There will be a special meeting tonight at the First Congregational church of this city, just after the prayer and conference meeting, for the purpose of electing 2 delegates to represent the church.

Attempted Extortion.—Peter Moor was arrested last night charged with attempting to extort from keepers of several houses of ill-fame money, promising in return not to give information against them to the police.

Election.—Last evening the election of the City Rifles was held at the armory. The following officers were elected: Captain, H. Gurr; 1st lieutenant, F. Harrington; 2d lieutenant, John Knox.

License.—A license has been granted Alphonse Heckmeir to sell spirituous liquors in quantities less than a quart, near the Red House, in Fulton precinct, by the county court.

At the Unitarian Church.—Services this evening, April 7th, and a familiar discourse by the pastor, on the theme, "Helps in the Formation of Character."

Insane.—Miss Drury, of Eugene, who was recently bereft of reason, was brought down last night and taken to the insane asylum.

Vancouver Ferry.—The steam ferry Altona will take place of the Veto on the Vancouver route, Friday, 8th inst., and continue till further notice.

RESOLUTIONS.

The following resolutions were read and adopted:

Whereas, There is a great deal of complaint against the indecent, boisterous and abusive manner in which certain and several members of Protection Co. No. 4 have been and are still indulging to the annoyance of the neighborhood in which said engine house is located, and unless the same is immediately abated it is hereby

Resolved, That the chief engineer of the P. F. D. is hereby directed and instructed—unless the said nuisance is abated—to close up said engine house No. 4, for the period of one month, and the auditor be directed to withhold that portion of the allowance for that period.

HORSES FOR THE ENGINE COMPANIES.

Whereas, The great extent of the portions of the city on which have been made improvements liable to be destroyed by fire, renders expedient the use of horses in pulling the fire apparatus to and from fires; and

Whereas, The great distance of many parts of the city from the engine houses and the condition of the streets make it almost impossible during bad weather to reach such distant localities with fire engines hauled by hand; and

Whereas, Three or four steam fire engines hauled by horses, in consequence of the promptness with which they can answer alarms, will be more serviceable than double that number run to fires by hand; therefore,

Resolved, That the committee on fire and water be and they are hereby authorized and directed to report to the common council proper ordinances making necessary and suitable provisions for furnishing three steam fire engine companies and one hook and ladder company with horses to haul their steam fire engines, hose carriages and trucks to and from fires, and for the feeding and care of such horses, also providing for the manner of purchasing horses for such service and a plan for districting the city so that the whole fire department shall not turn out at every alarm, unless specially called; also providing the manner of appointing the drivers of such horses and the amount of the pay of the drivers, also providing for such other necessary and suitable regulations as will render such services vigilant and complete; and also providing for all necessary arrangements to have such service go into effect on the first day of October, A. D. 1881.

Resolved, That notice be given that the common council propose to improve Sixth street from the north line of G street to the south line of Caruthers street, by grading, laying sidewalks and crosswalks and macadamizing the roadway full width.

Resolved, That notice be given that the common council propose to improve Twelfth street, from the south line of G street to the north line of Montgomery street, by grading, laying sidewalks and crosswalks, and by macadamizing the roadway full width.

Resolved, That notice be given that the common council propose to improve Tenth street from the south line of Stark street to the north line of Montgomery street, by grading, laying sidewalks and crosswalks and macadamizing the roadway full width.

Resolved, That notice be given that the common council propose to improve Eighth and North Ninth streets, from the south line of Harrison street to the GOLDENDALE NOTES.

Under date of April 4th a correspondent writes as follows:

The Templars' festival last night was a success.

A new daily stage line was put on yesterday between here and The Dalles, and both lines are all the carrying they can do.

Millard Hendrix, formerly from near Amity, and Miss Ollie Hopkins were married on the 31st inst. by Squire Landrum at the residence of the bride's mother, near town.

City election took place yesterday and the result was an anti-liquor license victory. That party elected all its ticket except town marshal. The winning ones are: For mayor, J. B. Landrum; recorder, P. E. Michell; marshal, A. Shuster; councilmen, Dr. J. S. Houghton, Dr. A. C. Helm, Myers Pike, C. R. Vandeleyne and S. W. Gardner.

S. Witkoski, of the firm of Lowenberg & Co. of this place, is expected back from San Francisco in a few days. He will bring with him his family and make this his future home. Their fine new dwelling is almost completed. S. Lowenberg, of the same firm, goes in a few days to open a branch store at Cleveland in the upper part of the county.

LITT

Values printers ink highly, and in using it, does not tell extravagant stuff about bargains, as the letters shown us from ladies at different places will attest. Mrs. Litt, with her corps of lady assistants, are kept busy from early in the day till long after dark. This indicates business and plenty of it. Litt is deserving of it all, and judging from his manner of doing business with those abroad, who have no ready means to inspect goods, he is bound to have a continuous run of letters with orders from the country. Ladies out of town can wear the best by simply following instructions as noted in Dr. Litt's advertisements. Many ladies are seen on the streets daily, attired in these suits which are well fitting and becoming to the wearer. The ready made suits are dolmans feature, and Mr. Litt purposes enjoying a large trade in them.

Don't you forget it that Uncle Myers can undersell any house in Portland, in guns, Pistols and musical instruments, 151 First street.

JUDGE DEADY'S DECISION.

in all other conveyances of any interest in said water right in conjunction or simultaneous with any interest in said lots or either of them, the same was made by one instrument, containing, however, a special description thereof, except as otherwise appears from the foregoing statement.

It also appears from the evidence that at and before 1867, the water in question was conducted from the basin in an under-ground flume on Main and Third streets, to the lots in question, under an ordinance of the city allowing the use of such streets for such purposes, and after being used thereon was discharged through a tailrace into the Wallamet river; that said water was brought to lot 5 and about the half of it used to run a paper mill thereon, and 18 or 20 inches more in a machine shop on said lot 6 belonging to said Moore; that in 1867 said paper mill was converted into a flour mill, and has been so used ever since; that since before 1876 all of said water power was used to run said mill and machinery, and has never been used otherwise nor elsewhere than as above stated; that at and before the date of the mortgage to Apperson the mill contained 3 run of stones with the necessary machinery; that there was upon the premises and used in connection with the mill a wharf and warehouse and an elevator for lifting wheat from the river; that the water power is worth one-third of the value of the site, the improvements thereon and the power; that there is a large surplus of water in the basin from which this is obtained, but whether it can be purchased, and if so upon what terms, does not appear: and that the property, including the water right was, on August 9, 1880, sold by the master of this court upon an interlocutory decree to the defendant Apperson and W. Carey Johnson for the sum of $22,000.

Upon the argument the learned counsel for the plaintiff cited and commented upon many cases touching the question of what privileges, rights and easements are or may be appurtenant to land and will therefore pass to the grantee of the latter without being named in the conveyance thereof and what are not so appurtenant. It is admitted that the water right in question is not "appurtenant" to the land in question, in the technical sense of that term, so that it could not exist separate and apart from it, and would pass with it, without mention or special agreement to that effect.

This water right was created and existed as a substantive and independent right, in gross, before the acquisition by the owners thereof of the lots mentioned in the mortgages. It was an easement without any fixed or limited dominant estate—whatever property it might be used with or upon being such estate for the time being. And although it has since been taken to said lots and there applied to run a mill and machinery thereon, and thereby become, so to speak, in fact appurtenant to such property, still it may be again separated therefrom and taken and applied elsewhere. The water right was granted without any restriction or limitation as to the nature or place of its use, and therefore the power may be applied as and where the circumstances will permit, and such application may be changed from time to time, both as to use and place, at the pleasure of the owner. Hart v. Curtis, 7 Met. 94; Linthicum v. Ray, 9 Wall. 242; Ackroyd v. Smith, 10 Com. Bench, 184; De Witt v. Harvey et al. 4 Gray, 487; Garrison v. Rudd, 19 Ill., 558; Goodrich v. Burbank, 12 Allen, 459.

It is also clear that a sale of any real property carries with it any easement or privilege which is necessary to its enjoyment, and at the time is in use thereon and therewith, as an appurtenance in fact, although not technically so at law—and this upon the presumption, more or less cogent according to the circumstances, that it was the intention of the parties to the agreement of sale that it should pass with the property to which it was then apparently subservient.—Nicholas v. Chamberlain, 3 Cro. 121; Whitney v. Olney, 3 Mas. 280; U. S. v. Appleton, 1 Sum., 503; Thayer v. Payne, 2 Cush., 327; Stricker v. Todd, 1 S. & R., 63, (13 Am. Dec. 649); Coolidge v. Hager, 43 Ver., 9, (5 Am. Rep., 256); Sheets v. Selden, 2 Wall., 186.

In such a case the question is simply as to the intention of the parties, to be gathered from the terms of the conveyance, the subject matter and its use and situation at the time of the sale, or as was said by Mr. Justice Story in U. S. v. Appleton, supra—"in the construction of grants the court ought to take into consideration the circumstances attendant upon the transaction, the particular situation of the parties, the state of the country and the state of the thing granted, for the purpose of ascertaining the intention of the parties. In truth every grant of a thing naturally and necessarily imports a grant of it as it actually exists, unless the contrary is provided for." In this case it was held that the vendees of the wings of a building were entitled, as against a prior vendee of the central part thereof, to the use of the windows and doors opening on to the front porch of the latter, not because such right was technically appurtenant thereto, but because such porch was so used at the time of the sale of the wings.

In Sheets v. Shelden's lessee, supra, it was held on the same principle, in the language of the syllabus, that upon the sale of a division of a canal belonging to the state of Indiana, "including its banks, margins, tow-paths, side cuts, feeders, basins, right of way, dams, water power, structures and all the appurtenances thereunto belonging," certain adjoining parcels of land belonging to the grantor which were necessary to the use of the canal and water power, and were used with it at the time, but which could not be included in any of the terms above, passed by the conveyance."

In Lampman v. Milks, supra, it was held, when the owner of land across which flows a stream diverts the course of the latter, so as to relieve a portion of the tract from overflow, which he then sells, that neither he nor his grantees of the residue of the property can return the stream to its former bed to the damage of the first grantee. And in Coolidge v. Hagar, supra, it was held that the conveyance of a house and land by an ordinary warranty deed carried with it, by implication, the right which the grantor then had to water conveyed to the premises by means of an aqueduct from a distant spring.

This doctrine has been very strongly applied in the case of the grant of a mill messuage, or house, eo nomine. In the former case, it has been decided that the grant will carry with it a parcel of land adjoining the mill and used in connection with it as well as that upon which it stands; and also the right to the water from a particular creek owned by the grantor, and then used to run the mill.

In Whitney v. Olney, supra, it was held that land adjacent to and commonly used with a "mill," although not technically appurtenant thereto, passed by a devise thereof, upon the ground that its use made it a "parcel of the mill," and therefore it was presumed that it was intended to be comprehended within the term "mill" and devised by it. See also U. S. v Appleton, supra, where Mr. Justice Story, in illustrating the proposition that upon the grant of a house it is implied from the nature of the grant, unless provision is made to the contrary, that the grantee shall possess the house in the manner and with the beneficial rights as were then in use and belonging to it, said: "It is strictly a question what passes by the grant. Thus, if a man sells a mill, which at the time has a part of a stream of water flowing to it, the right to the water passes as an appurtenance, although the grantor was, at the time of the grant, the owner of all the stream above and below the mill. And it will make no difference, that the mill was once another person's; and that the adverse right to use the stream had been acquired by the former owner, and might have been afterwards extinguished by unity of possession in the grantor. The law gives a reasonable intendment in all such cases to the grant; and passes with the property all those easements and privileges, which at the time belong to it, and are in use as appurtenances."

Upon these authorities as well as the reason of the case, in my judgment the conveyance to the defendant Apperson of the premises by metes and bounds, under the circumstances, passed the water right then owned by the grantor, Miller, and used in and upon the premises for any beneficial purpose.

It is admitted by the counsel for the plaintiff, that if the conveyance to Apperson had described the premises as a "mill," the water power then used to run it, would have passed with it to the grantee. But the conveyance was in fact of a mill—a mill was the actual subject of the sale and conveyance—the thing which the parties dealt with and for—and it is not apparent why the mere difference in the mode of description of the property should make any such difference in the effect or result of the conveyance.

But independent of this consideration it is apparent from the circumstances that it was the intention of the parties to mortgage the water power as well as the land and buildings thereon, because (1). It was then in use upon the premises to run the mill and machinery, then in active operation, and had never been used elsewhere, and must in the nature of things have been regarded as one property; (2). It was an apparent and continuous easement in actual use upon and for the benefit of the premises described in the mortgage and gave them at least one third of their value and probably much more of their salable asset and (3). Without it, the premises were not a sufficient security for the money loaned upon them.

And therefore, although this water power is not nor never was technically appurtenant to this land or mill, so that it could not exist [illegible] pendent of the intention of the parties, still, at the date of the defendant's mortgage it was in fact appurtenant to the premises, and might pass with a conveyance of them, although not specially mentioned or described therein, if such was the intention of the parties, of which I think there can be no doubt.

The controversy between the plaintiff and defendant concerning the right to this water is purely a legal one. The former has no claim to any superior equity or merit over the latter. It was not misled by the terms of the defendant's mortgage to give credit to any one upon the supposition that Miller still owned the water power unaffected by the mortgage to Apperson, but having an unsecured debt against Miller or Yocum or both it took this mortgage for what might be made out of the property as against the defendant Apperson.

The decision of the court will be that the plaintiff recover of the defendant, Miller, the sum of $11,500 with interest thereon from January 2, 1880, and that the defendant, Apperson, recover of said defendant the sum of $20,000 with interest thereon, from October 13, 1879; that the lien of the mortgage of said Apperson extends to the water power as well as the lots and improvements thereon, and that the amount due said Apperson be first paid from the proceeds of the sale of said premises, together with the legal costs and expenses incurred by him in this suit, and that the balance, if any, be applied upon the debt due the plaintiff; and that the lien of both said mortgages be held satisfied, and the purchaser of the premises take the same discharged therefrom.

Ellis G. Hughes, for the plaintiff.

W. Carey Johnson and William Strong, for the defendant, Apperson.

BOOTS AND SHOES.

TO THE TRADE.

We have succeeded to the business of Redlich, Hecht & Co., and have established a branch of the San Francisco House in this city. We have now in stock and will always carry a complete assortment of Boots and Shoes of the best Eastern manufacture, and of BUCKINGHAM & HECHT'S well known California-made goods, which we offer to the trade at San Francisco prices.

HECHT BROS. & CO.

Portland, March 10, 1881.

FARMERS, MINERS AND LUMBERMEN!

[illegible]

Use no other but those with trade mark of PORTER, OPPENHEIMER, SLESSINGER & CO., for they have the sole right of Patent for the manufacture of the IRONCLAD PATENT RIVETED BOOTS AND SHOES. All others are infringements on same. None but those with trade-mark of P. O. S. & CO. are the genuine article.

P. O. S. & CO.,
San Francisco, Cal

WARNING!

Notice is given to Merchants and Shoe Dealers in Oregon and Washington Territory that we own the sole and entire right to manufacture and sell the PATENT RIVETED SEAM BOOTS AND SHOES, U. S. Patent granted August 3d, 1880, and all persons dealing in goods that are an infringement on our rights are liable to suits for damages.

A word to the wise is sufficient.

TROPIC FRUIT
LAXATIVE
Prepared from tropical fruits and plants

Is thorough in its Medicinal Action, and yet so agreeable to the taste that patrons often disregard our injunction to divide the lozenge into parts (say two doses) to meet their respective cases. At the outset it is especially essential to observe the directions closely till one becomes accustomed to its use—when mild action and the most satisfactory results are sure to follow.

Ladies and children, and those who dislike taking pills and nauseous medicines to secure cathartic action, are especially pleased with its agreeable qualities.

Try it once, and you will esteem it highly as a safe, pleasant, and effective remedy.

Packed in bronzed tin boxes only.

Price, 25 cents.
Large boxes, 60 cents.
